each year under Mr. Bradshaw's efficient management. And Mr. Bradshaw has saved the County money by using sound fiscal practices in County operations.

Jeff Bradshaw would like to continue serving Wasatch County as Clerk-Auditor for another four years. He feels that he still has many goals to complete and the experience he has gained for the past four years can only benefit the County in its future operations. County government is at a very critical crossroads where explosive growth and change will require experienced and knowledgeable leaders. Mr. Bradshaw represents Wasatch County at many meetings and seminars for computers, risk management, insurance, tax-related legislative matters, and other county business because of his background and his desire to keep current on issues facing the county. We need Mr. Bradshaw's financial expertise and dedicated service to meet our challenging future in Wasatch County!

JOHN T. GILES

John T. Giles, son of Frederick and Mary Ann Moulton, was born in "the old fort," when Heber settlement was but three years old. His boyhood was spent in Heber. He was a farmer and stock raiser. He served a mission for the Church in Tennessee and Kentucky in the early 1890s. On October 31, 1895, he was married to Sarah Ann Roberts, daughter of John and Sarah Roberts to this couple: Bertha, who died at the age of eight; Orah May (Van Wagoner), Vincent T.; Owen Reed, who died at the age of 16; Ralph F.; Melvin, who passed away in the mission field, and Grant D. Giles.

His community service included justice of the peace, city councilman, member of board of education, four terms county clerk and recorder, and representative in the Legislature. He served the Church in the Sunday School superintendency when there was but one Sunday School in Heber, and as a Stake High Council member for over thirty-three years under three stake presidents.

For a period prior to his death he was the oldest native-born resident of Heber. He passed away in Heber in May, 1954, in his ninety-second year. P 360-1
